Demand Response Summary:	Cielo Smart Thermostat Eco is designed to support various Demand Response (DR) services, making it highly effective for Load Management Entities (LMEs). The device participates in load dispatch, ancillary services, price notifications, and price responses, optimizing energy consumption during peak demand. It can be addressed directly through its open API, conforming to interface specifications that enable seamless interaction and control. The Cielo Smart Thermostat Eco supports locational DR, allowing utilities to manage energy usage down to ZIP codes, specific feeders, or individual endpoints specified by the LME. It operates using Wi-Fi and supports open communication protocols, with certifications that include ADR 2.0b compliance, ensuring broad compatibility with energy management systems. Feedback to the LME includes real-time data for Measurement and Verification (M&V), along with override notifications when users manually adjust their settings during a DR event. The thermostat is designed to minimize c
